Solberg and Peterson's Plane Wrecked Eliminating Flight Over Sea

FAMILY TO LEAVE

Lee, Bochkon Remain on Ground Through Night

By E. L. OKE

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., Aug 24.—After spending the night on an isolated Newfoundland beach while the world feared they were lost, Clyde A. Lee and John Bochkon landed their Oslo-bound plane "Green Mountain Boy" at Harbor Grace airport today, just 12 hours and 20 minutes after their rivals in a projected ocean race had cracked up their plane.

Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen, who left Floyd Bennett airport a few hours before Lee and Bochkon got away from Barre, Vt., crashed in a storm at Darby's Harbor on Placentia Bay, escaping injury but eliminating themselves from the race to Oslo.

Lee and Bochkon arrived safely at Harbor Grace at 7:20 a. m. (E. S. T.) only a few minutes after word had been received of the Solberg-Petersen crack-up, which occurred at 7 o'clock (E. S. T.) last night.

FEAR FELT

Grave fears for the safety of all four competitors had been felt throughout Newfoundland. Shortly after Harbor Grace learned that Solberg and Peterson had escaped injury in their crash, the big red plane from Vermont swept over Belle Oran, near Harbor Grace, and this famous airport knew that at least one of the contestants had come through without disaster.

Shortly after their landing, Lee and Bochkon told International News Service how they had decided to descend at Burgo Beach, Newfoundland, last evening rather than brave fog and storm throughout the night.

"Darkness was falling," Bochkon said, "when we found ourselves more than 200 miles from Harbor Grace and with no chance of making our destination before dark

LANDED SAFELY

"Not wishing to take any chances in a strange country, we decided to land at Burgo Beach. It was ticklish work, but we made it with nothing more serious than a slightly dented wing tip.

"We tried to get word through that we were all right, but the wireless station was closed.

"The people at Burgo told us that Solberg and Petersen had passed over about 20 minutes ahead of us. But we figured it was safer to remain on the beach and make a new start in the morning.

"We spent the night aboard our plane, snatching a little sleep. Before we could take off this morning, we had to strip the cowls off

PICKAWAY-CO SCHOOLS PLAN SHOW PARADE

More than 1,000 High School Pupils to Take Part in Event

BUCHANAN ACTS

Committee Named; $500 Now Available

The school parade at this year's Pumpkin Show, presumably doomed by action of the city board of education which decided unfavorably toward the project, will be a reality and will be staged by pupils of the county high schools, according to an announcement Wednesday by D. L. Buchanan, superintendent of county schools.

An invitation to stage the parade was extended to Mr. Buchanan by Proctor Baughman, director of parades for this year's show, after the city board of education refused.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Mr. Buchanan has appointed a general committee composed of L. E. Seitz of Pickaway-twp school; R. H. Sponsler of Walnut-twp school; C. A. Higley of Ashville high school; George McDowell of Jackson-twp and himself as an ex-officio member to arrange and make plans for the event. Other county school superintendents and teachers will also be appointed to help prepare for the parade.

The Pumpkin Show Society will donate $500 to finance the project and this amount will cover the cost of the parade.

Approximately 1,000 high school pupils will take part in the event

MAKES STATEMENT

In commenting on the project Mr. Buchanan made the following statement: "This is a day when there is need to keep up the economic morale. We can't have a Pumpkin Show or we can't function as a county seat unless somebody is willing to spend himself. I did this out of utter distress for the Pumpkin Show Society after the city schools refused and I believe the township boards of education should be willing to sanction this project, which is not only local, but also state and national."

Arrangements will go forward at once in an attempt to make the school parade one of the most successfull events of this year's show. It is expected that it will be staged Friday afternoon, Oct. 7.

Drastic Economy Action Is Sought By Farm Groups

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—Farm relief will run economy a race for attention at the September special session of the legislature soon to be called by Governor George White for the specific purpose of cutting salaries.

This became apparent to state officials today following a meeting of the governor's committee on foreclosures and tax delinquencies when a fervent appeal for aid for farmers was set up by "dirt farmers" from every section of Ohio.

CONSIDER PROBLEMS

Out of the hearing came two announcements assuring consideration of farm relief problems at the special session. They were:

1. Declaration by Charles Williams, Cincinnati life insurance company president and chairman of the committee, that the committee will recommend use of a "tax certificate" plan which would allow farmers and other property owners to redeem, over a period of three years, land and homes seized for taxes.

2. Promises by Senator Charles J. Anderson (R) of Shelby, chairman of a state senate committee on farm loans, to present a bill calling for a moratorium on payment to joint farm loan banks until Jan. 1, 1935.

WOULD CANCEL DEBT

Film Comedian Expected To Oppose Entrance of Two Sons Into Movies

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 24.—Charles Chaplin, film comedian, within 48 hours will file in court a petition challenging the right of his divorced wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, to place their young sons, Charles, Jr., 7, and Earl, "Tommy," 6, in motion pictures, he announced today.

Chaplin said he either would seek an injunction, or ask modification of an agreement entered into with Mrs. Chaplin over the children at the time of the divorce.

UNDER CONTRACT

Chaplin to date has paid $1,000 a month for support of his sons in addition to the $650,000 he gave Mrs. Chaplin in settlement when they divorced five years ago.

"Chaplin believes that entrance of his sons into motion pictures at their tender ages will interfere with their normal development and take from them the pleasures enjoyed by other children of similar ages," said the comedian's attorney.

"I'll await developments," was Mrs. Chaplin's terse comment.

OHIO DROUGHT NOW SERIOUS

Corn, Garden Produce Badly In Need of Rain; Stock Also Suffers.

COLUMBUS, Aug 24. — A drought as serious as the disastrous dry spell of 1930 was reported threatening Ohio farm crops and livestock today.

Crops, particularly corn and garden produce, were reported to be greatly retarded in growth and livestock in many sections was said to be suffering from lack of water.

Areas in Allen-co were said to be the hardest hit but the Ohio Farm Bureau reported all sections were suffering equally from the lack of rainfall.

HARVEST EARLIER

Southern Ohio, it was said, may escape the brunt of the drought as crops there are harvested earlier than in the northern part of the state.

Pasture lands were reported to be dried up in many areas and farmers had to resort to feeding live stock in many instances.

In Jackson-twp in Allen-co wells were drying up and the corn crop there, residents reported, would equal only half of the production of the average year because of the lack of rain.

In that area there will be no late potato crop because of the dry ground unless there is rain soon. Tomatoes, cabbage and beans also were reported hard hit by the drought.

Rain, the Farm Bureau said, was needed badly in the northern sections of the state where large vineyards are located. Grapes were reported withering upon their vines and unless there is rain loss to vinyard owners will be heavy.

Farmers in Allen-co said that thousands of dollars damage already had been done to farm crops there.

Roads Blocked In Omaha District Today

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—Although expressing sympathy with the motive of the movement, general disapproval was expressed by prominent Ohio farm leaders today of the farm strike in Iowa, Nebraska and other western states.

Leaders were agreed that there was no danger of a similar farm boycott in Ohio.

OMAHA, Nebr., Aug. 24.—Tear gas and pistol shots were used for the first time in the farm strike war near here early today when a dozen deputy sheriffs resorted to force to break up a blockade on Highway 34 leading into Council Bluffs and Omaha from the Iowa side.

Three farmers were arrested and were being held in jail.

The tear gas was brought into play when the 300 pickets turned on officers who ordered them to allow ten trucks through their blockade. There were numerous fist fights and several farmers were bruised and cut.

REFUSED PASSAGE

The clash between officers and striking farmers occurred after authorities went to the scene of the blockade when complaints were made that all trucks were being refused passage.

Mr. Buchanan has appointed a general committee composed of L. E. Seitz of Pickaway-twp school; R. H. Sponsler of Walnut-twp school; C. A. Higley of Ashville high school; George McDowell of Jackson-twp and himself as an ex-officio member to arrange and make plans for the event. Other county school superintendents and teachers will also be appointed to help prepare for the parade.

The Pumpkin Show Society will donate $500 to finance the project and this amount will cover the cost of the parade.

Approximately 1,000 high school pupils will take part in the event.

MAKES STATEMENT

In commenting on the project Mr. Buchanan made the following statement: "This is a day when there is need to keep up the economic morale. We can't have a Pumpkin Show or we can't function as a county seat unless somebody is willing to spend himself. I did this out of utter distress for the Pumpkin Show Society after the city schools refused and I believe the township boards of education should be willing to sanction this project, which is not only local, but also state and national."

Arrangements will go forward at once in an attempt to make the school parade one of the most successfull events of this year's show. It is expected that it will be staged Friday afternoon, Oct. 7.

FATHER HANNAN DANGEROUSLY ILL

Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. S. Hannan, venerable pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, W. Mound-st, is dangerously ill at the rectory.

SEX OF CHILDREN MAY BE CONTROLLED

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The sex of babies may be definitely influenced through scientific means known to experts today, Dr. Jacob Sanders, Rotterdam, told the closing session of the third International Congress of Eugenics.

If the acid content in the bloodstream of the expectant mother is high, he decleared, she will probably give birth to a girl; if low, to a boy.

Both conditions may be artificially produced, Dr. Sanders asserted.

U. S. STEEL PLANS TO EMPLOY MANY

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—One of the largest industrial development projects of recent times, that of spending $5,000,000 to rehabilitate the plants of the United States Steel corporation, was undertaken by that organization today.

The outlay for improvements and replacements in the plants located in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Alabama was authorized by the corporation's finance committee in the belief near equipment was needed to meet the approaching trade.

It was estimated the work would consume six months and furnish employment to many thousands of persons.

Drastic Economy Action Is Sought By Farm Groups

White to Ask Legislature to Cancel Debts Caused by Old Road Assessments; Abolition of Four County Offices Demanded

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—Farm relief will run economy a race for attention at the September special session of the legislature soon to be called by Governor George White for the specific purpose of cutting salaries.

This became apparent to state officials today following a meeting of the governor's committee on foreclosures and tax delinquencies when a fervent appeal for aid for farmers was set up by "dirt farmers" from every section of Ohio.

CONSIDER PROBLEMS

Out of the hearing came two announcements assuring consideration of farm relief problems at the special session. They were:

1. Declaration by Charles Williams, Cincinnati life insurance company president and chairman of the committee, that the committee will recommend use of a "tax certificate" plan which would allow farmers and other property owners to redeem, over a period of three years, land and homes seized for taxes.

2. Promises by Senator Charles J. Anderson (R) of Shelby, chairman of a state senate committee on farm loans, to present a bill calling for a moratorium on payment to joint farm loan banks until Jan. 1, 1935.

WOULD CANCEL DEBT

Governor White has already paved the way for introducing the subject of farm relief into the special session by stating he will ask legislation cancelling old debts against farmers for highway improvements started before enactment of the gasoline tax to care for highway building.

Several successful farmers left their fields to attend yesterday's meeting and urge lessening of the

TRUSTEES, SCHOOL BOARD MAKE PLAN

Muhlenberg-Twp Schools to receive $3300 From Taxation Instead of Smaller Amount

At a meeting of the county budget commission and the board of trustees of Muhlenberg-twp at the county auditor's office the latter body agreed to make a levy on the entire Darbyville school district valuation which will evolve $3300 in taxation for schools, rather than make the 2.6 mills levy on Darbyville village $55,000 valuation, which would only yield $156 for village government purposes.

The township trustees and the school board will continue to furnish light for the village and also care for the upkeep of the streets and furnish relief to the poor.

The trustees also decided not to make a township levy for roads, and instead, let this amount be given to schools. They will use the gasoline and license tax for the upkeep of the roads.

Film Comedian Expected To Oppose Entrance of Two Sons Into Movies

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 24.—Charles Chaplin, film comedian, within 48 hours will file in court a petition challenging the right of his divorced wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, to place their young sons, Charles, Jr., 7, and Earl, "Tommy," 6, in motion pictures, he announced today.

Chaplin said he either would seek an injunction, or ask modification of an agreement entered into with Mrs. Chaplin over the children at the time of the divorce.

UNDER CONTRACT

Mrs. Chaplin is under contract with the Fox film studio to appear in five pictures with the two boys.

Chaplin to date has paid $1,000 a month for support of his sons in addition to the $650,000 he gave Mrs. Chaplin in settlement when they divorced five years ago.

"Chaplin believes that entrance of his sons into motion pictures at their tender ages will interfere with their normal development and take from them the pleasures enjoyed by other children of similar ages," said the comedian's attorney.

"I'll await developments," was Mrs. Chaplin's terse comment.

OHIO DROUGHT NOW SERIOUS

Corn, Garden Produce Badly In Need of Rain; Stock Also Suffers.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24. — A drought as serious as the disastrous dry spell of 1930 was reported threatening Ohio farm crops and livestock today.

Crops, particularly corn and garden produce, were reported to be greatly retarded in growth and livestock in many sections was said to be suffering from lack of water.

Areas in Allen-co were said to be the hardest hit but the Ohio Farm Bureau reported all sections were suffering equally from the lack of rainfall.

HARVEST EARLIER

Southern Ohio, it was said, may escape the brunt of the drought as crops there are harvested earlier than in the northern part of the state.

Pasture lands were reported to be dried up in many areas and farmers had to resort to feeding live stock in many instances.

In Jackson-twp in Allen-co wells were drying up and the corn crop there, residents reported, would equal only half of the production of the average year because of the lack of rain.

In that area there will be no late potato crop because of the dry ground unless there is rain soon. Tomatoes, cabbage and beans also were reported hard hit by the drought.

Rain, the Farm Bureau said, was needed badly in the northern sections of the state where large vineyards are located. Grapes were reported withering upon their vines and unless there is rain loss to vinyard owners will be heavy.

Farmers in Allen-co said that thousands of dollars damage already had been done to farm crops there.

EDITOR IS FACING NEW AFFIDAVITS

XENIA, Aug. 24.—Two affidavits, charging Grover Fleming, editor of an Ohio weekly newspaper, with alleged malicious libel, today were on file in the municipal police court here.

They were sworn out by W. B. McCallister, formerGreene-co sheriff, and John P. Beckley, of Xenia.

McCallister and Beckley, members of the county fish and game protective association, charged that Fleming published an unfounded story that they were arrested in Warren and fined for catching under-sized bass.

FARMERS, DEPUTIES IN CLASH

Tear Gas and Pistol Shots Used to Halt 300 Striking Farmers

THREE ARRESTED

Roads Blocked In Omaha District Today

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—Although expressing sympathy with the motive of the movement, general disapproval was expressed by prominent Ohio farm leaders today of the farm strike in Iowa, Nebraska and other western states.

Leaders were agreed that there was no danger of a similar farm boycott in Ohio.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 24.—Tear gas and pistol shots were used for the first time in the farm strike war near here early today when a dozen deputy sheriffs resorted to force to break up a blockade on Highway 34 leading into Council Bluffs and Omaha from the Iowa side.

Three farmers were arrested and were being held in jail.

The tear gas was brought into play when the 300 pickets turned on officers who ordered them to allow ten trucks through their blockade. There were numerous fist fights and several farmers were bruised and cut.

REFUSED PASSAGE

The clash between officers and striking farmers occurred after authorities went to the scene of the blockade when complaints were made that all trucks were being refused passage.

The officers found ten loaded

Expect 500,000 At State's Fair

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—Worries over hard-times were packed in the old kit-bag and forgotten today a prediction of a record-smashing attendance of 500,000 was made for the Ohio State Fair, the greatest exposition of its kind in the world, which opens here Monday and continues through until Friday night.

It is Ohio's "Mardi Gras" of the year and the $2,500,000 exhibit will be ballyhooed to a brilliant start Monday morning when a parade, with a 300-piece boy band and numerous decorated floats, will march through downtown Columbus. On the band's official roster are names representing every high school in the Buckeye State.

500,000 EXPECTED

Charles M. Beer, fair manager, declared the "event is going to be bigger and better than ever" and predicted that 500,000 Ohioans will shove $125,000 in "two-bit" pieces to the gate-keeper for admission to the momentous show.

The program, roughly outlined by Beer, follows:

Monday—Columbus and children's Day.

Tuesday — Farm organizations and county fair managers' Day.

Wednesday—County commissioners and township trustees' Day.

Thursday—Governor's Day.

Friday—Press Day.

There are more than 6,000 entries in the cattle and livestock show, according to Beer, and they represent a value of at least $1,500,000. Farm machinery and other exhibits will boost the value of the show to the $2,500,000 mark, he said.

PAGEANT EACH NIGHT

Every night there will be a George Washington pageant in front of the grandstand in the front of the grandstand in the spicious fair grounds. Dr. J. W. Wilce, former Ohio State U. football coach, will take part as "the father of Our Country," even to wearing "the knee-pants, silk stocking and all," the doctor himself declared.

Prior to the pageant, the crowds will be entertained by an act, known as "Les Cattiers," in which French tight-wire artist will perform on a wire 115 feet in the air. They will present trapeze work, rings, hand balancing, perch work and iron-jaw stunts at the "death-defying height," a publicity comminique stated.

Dogs, cats and even the canaries are to have their spot in the limelight. A dog show, with between 400 and 500 entries, will be held under the auspices of the American Kennel Club. The cat show is expected to draw 300 of the soft-furred felines. The feathered-pet exhibition, including canaries and all pet cage birds, is an innovition and will be held for the first time in the history of the fair.

Interest of sportsmen and fishermen also is expected to be magnetized by casting tournaments for the fishermen and a coon chase for the followers of the trap and field.

INTERESTING SCENES

In the dairy building, a life-size cow will be sculptured from butter and buildings and barns are expected to be modeled from the same substance.

Horse show for awarding of blue ribbons to prize stock will be held nightly in the ring at the huge coliseum and for the first time, fair visitors will be treated to polo games under the arc lights of that building.

Polo contests also will be played on the turf inside the oval dirt track in front of the grandstand every afternoon. Trotting races, for stakes of $20,000, will be held daily for harness-racing fans.

A smilar sum will be given as prize purses in the Horse show and awards for prize livestock total the same amount.

How the roads of the state are constructed will be shown in a road machinery and materials exhibition. Over 400 nationally known concerns have signified their intention of entering exhibits.

Other highlights of the exposition include a hog-calling contest, a husband-calling contest, a sheep-shearing contest, a horse-pulling race and an exhibition of bees, hives and honey.

TO BE BROADCAST

Radio station WAIU will broadcast all of the fair proceedings. Huge megaphones will be installed in all parts of the fair grounds to help officials broadcast announcements and the program.

Beer declared that the fair not only compared favorably with any other exhibition of the world but that "it is the greatest of its kind." He was eptimistic and stressed the fact that admission this year was only 25 cents in comparison to 50 cents in former years.

"It will be a huge success," he vouchsafed.

DRY FORCES SPLIT OVER HOOVER TALK

Liquor Issue Brings Controversy Between Prohibition Armies.

BY PAUL C. YATES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The powerful dry organizations of America were split further today over President Hoover's stand on the liquor issue.

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal church launched a blistering attack upon the President, accusing him of betraying the dry cause.

At the same time, the Allied Forces for Prohibition praised Mr. Hoover's wet pronouncement in his acceptance speech as "a clearcut document of statesmanship."

NO QUARTER GIVEN

A campaign of no quarter in its fight to retain the Eighteenth amendment without modification was sounded by the Methodist board.

Through Deets Pickett, its research secretary, this numerically huge organization declared:

"It would be idle to deny that the utterances of honorable and respectable political leaders which are in keeping with the cries of the hoodlums who filled the galleries of the Chicago stadium have been bitterly disappointing to the supporters of the prohibition law.

"Particularly is this true in regard to the utterances of the President, made in his acceptance address. Surely no one in the land can fail to understand this when it is remembered with what utter devotion the Democratic and Republican supporters of Mr. Hoover served his cause in 1928.

"Hundreds of them suffered abuse, many of them ostracism, some of them prosecution.

"WITH HEAVY HEART"

"It must have been with a heavy heart that the President turned from these loyal friends and struck hands with their enemies and the enemies of the Eighteenth amendment. Those who so advised him did a disservice not only to their party but to their country."

The board praised Vice President Curtis' stand in favor of the Eighteenth amendment as "refreshing and encouraging for its honesty and courage."

Apparently striking at other dry organizations which have indorsed Mr. Hoover, the board warned that "the millions of Americans who support prohibition for 'conscience' sake cannot be 'delivered' to any candidate who does not represent their convictions."

ECLIPSE WILL BE SEEN THRU OHIO

DELAWARE, Aug. 24.—The total eclipse of the sun on August 31 will be seen in Ohio as a partial eclipse some two hours from about 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., according to Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, director of Perkins Observatory, Ohio Wesleyan University.

Eighty percent of the sun's surface will be obscured for Ohio spectators, Dr. Stetson said. The maximum eclipse will come at 3:20 p. m.

"Some of this phenomenon will be seen throughout the entire United States and Canada. Even the Pacific coast will see about 15 per cent of the sun's face covered," Dr Stetson said.

"In a narrow path about 100 miles wide crossing Maine New Hampshire and a small portion of Massachusetts, the sunlight will be completely obscured and the gorgeous spectacle of the solar corona may be viewed. The exact center of the eclipse will pass through Magog, Canada and Conway, New Hampshire, leaving the coast line at Kennebunkport Maine and proceeding out over the Atlantic ocean.

"Astronomers from all parts of the world will gather along the track of the shadow of the moon and set up elaborate pieces of apparatus for making scientific observations of the outer atmosphere of the sun which are possible only under such circumstances.

"An eclipse expedition from Ohio will [illegible] Rieff at Douglas Hill, Malta, sponsored by the Perkins Observatory and Camp School of Applied Science."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Karin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bound bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food don't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul; skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remember the substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1932 C. M. Co.

Just Grandpa to Her

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt may be the distinguished Democratic nominee for President to most people but he's just "grandpa" to little Ann Dahl, shown frolicing with him in the pool of the Roosevelt home at Hyde Park, N. Y. Little Ann is almost as fond of swimming as her famous grandfather who takes a dip every day, whether in Albany or at home.

Traffic Police Warn Motorists

Additional efforts are being made by traffic officers to teach automobile and truck drivers how to operate their automobiles to provide safety for themselves and everyone else.

One of the factors stressed by authorities is the practice of operating vehicles with only one headlight burning. This is a law violation and officers are making an effort to break up the practice. As yet few arrests have been made but unless that practice is halted apprehensions will be made.

Another is the fast rate of speed which truck drivers have been employing. There is a certain speed permitted for trucks according to the weight. It would be a good idea for truck drivers to get in touch with traffic authorities, stating the weight of their trucks and load and learns how fast they are allowed to travel.

Auto drivers still persist in following the fire truck, one officer has pointed out, and arrests loom in this field if the practice continues. Another is the habit of parking in highways at scenes of automobile accidents and blocking traffic, thus making additional accidents, which may prove fatal, possible.

HORSE THIEF IN MICHIGAN

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., — Two great ambitions are to be realized by Joe E. Brown in one swoop.

Warner Brothers have decided at last to make "Elmer the Great" with the chasm-faced comedian in the title role. Joe has been hankering after this picture for many months. It is to start after "You Said a Mouthful," which begins about August 22, is completed.

"Elmer the Great" will also give Joe E. an opportunity to do what he has always wanted-a characterization which does not depend alone on his oral cavity and his ululating gifts.

Although, if the fans really want his howl and his yawn, some way will probably be found to get them in.

Ring Lardner and George M. (Michael) Cohan are the playwrights of "Elmer the Great." It is one of the most successful baseball comedies put on the stage.

The Burbank studios will probably cast it with famous baseball names, waiting for the off-baseball season to use them.

El Captain's show record was broken by Joe E. Brown when he played the baseball comedy thirteen weeks there, returning to Hollywood after long runs in San Francisco and Oakland to do another 2 weeks.

The studio was telling the Marx brothers that although their "Cocoanuts" did not set the world afire in England last year, this year's picture, "Horse Feathers," is a panic with the Britons.

"They are laughing at last year's picture," flipped Groucho.

BOULEVARD CHATTER

Marie Dressler led the star parade to Santa Barbara for the fiesta this coming week-end.

The heat is still on for Estelle Taylor and Lyle Talbot . . . Irene Dunne is on her feet again after the cold she caught voyaging home from Honolulu. R-K-O is looking for a picture with music in it for Irene . . . Lloyd Corrigan is back from his European trip, working in a story for Allison Slipworth and Stuart Erwin. Shoothing is expected to begin next month. . . . Charlotte Susa, the foreign star who speaks perfect English, is on the M-G-M lot . . . Lawrence Grant has invented an aluminum camp chair that folds up for the hip pocket . . . . The Barrymores continue playful. Lionel was seen talking to a stray dog outside the M-G-M gates. He showed up on the set of "Rasputin" and some one asked him what happened to the pup. Lionel lifted his Russian beard and brought it forth . . . . Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., return to Hollywood the first week in September . . . Robert Montgomery, the town's perfect patient, is expected out of the hospital in two weeks. . . Saw Johnny Weissmulled, first surrounded by girls, then lunching with Bobbe Arnst in the M-G-M commissary . . . Ralph Forbes, in uniform for "Smilin' Through," uncertainly greeting chance acquaintances in his new status . . . Some one suggests Joe E. Brown for Universal's "Laughing Boy."

The selling of the Montmarte rousts a lot of old ghosts from their haunts. The once-famous haunt of the stars is being looted by the men who brought its movables at auction Champagne buckets, silverware over which famous exotiques and Hollywood's elite chased away the hours, the wall seat where Greta Garbo used to sit in her public days—all are going.

The parade has passed on up the boulevard. Across the street, a film theater's marquise flaunts "Merrily We Go to Hell."

Hollywood is being prepared to greet another matinee idol from Europe. He is Francis Lederer, regarded in the capitals over seas as another Chevalier.

R. K. O. Radio has brought a story for him already. It is "Nights Are Made for Love." It is planned to make it his first picture, when he arrives in Hollywood after New Year's. Before tha, the new heartthrob will play on Broadway in "Autumn Crocus," a play in which he has been stirring London audiences.

Hardie Albright had never been on a polo horse. But they made him ride one with Jack Holt in "Polo," for Columbia. He came through without a toss.

A later sequence called for him to spin a racing auto around and around a turn. He is one of Hollywood's best autoists, but he came out with a shoulder out of joint.

JUST WHAT WOULD [illegible] MR. FOSTER; COMMUNIST [illegible]

By LEO V. DOLAN

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 24—"Hoover—Roosevelt?

There's no difference. Each could function perfectly in the other's cabinet."

That's the succint summation of William Z. Foster, communistic candidate for the presidency. Tall and gaunt, with an iron jaw and gleaming blue eyes, he sprawled his length on a rickety desk and "talked politics."

MATE IS NEGRO

His running mate, James W. Ford, Alabama negro, sat silent and motionless, except for an occasional nod of the head, as Foster "got off his chest" a running fire of cynical comment.

It included:

"The capitalist system has burst. The stock market rise is hooey. There'll be another cut in wages for all workers.

"Governor Pinchot? A fakir and demagogue.

"Father James R. Cox? He's cutting off relief by his jobless party movement, eliminating struggle for adequate relief.

"Norman Thomas, the Socialist? Bah! Better, the Social Democrat!"

Thomas, peculiarly enough, drew the heaviest barrage. Of him, Foster observed:

"With him in the presidency, it would be like Ramsay MacDonald in England. He claimed to be a Socialist—and then he [illegible] to shoot down the people.

"Hitler also called [illegible] Socialist. So did Mussolini.

"The Russian situation [illegible] "In Russia, the steel [illegible] running 118 per cent.' [illegible] running 19 per cent. [illegible]

"Russia operates for the [illegible] Here, industry operates [illegible] and profit."

"And now, Mr. Foster," [illegible] porter persisted, "just what [illegible] you do if you were elected [illegible] dent?"

He laughed and admitted: "I just wrote a book [illegible] Buy the book."

He is wearing the blue shirt symbolic of his "Blue Shirt" [illegible] Photo was made as the priest accepted the party nomination for the Presidency of the United States.

Brooklyn Faces Chicago In Test

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Three and one-half games behind the Cubs, Brooklyn's team of destiny was to clash with the National league leaders at Chicago today in the first contest of a three-game series that will go far toward determining the winner of the pennant. The Dodgers must capture two of the three battles to stay in the race.

In these three games, and in the three to be played with the Cubs in Brooklyn next month, the Dodgers will be put to the acid test. Brooklyn hold a 9 to 7 edge over the Bruins in their clashes to date, but will have to be at their best to take the Cubs on the latters' home lot.

PITCHERS REST

The Brooklyn pitchers have been rested up for two days for the big series while the Cubs, victorious in ten of their last eleven starts, thrashed the Phillies for the fourth time in succession yesterday, 5 to 1. Pat Malone held the Phils to five hits as a warm-up for the Brooklyn series.

The Cubs set a new National league record when they registered only one assist during the game.

Brooklyn is only one game in front of the Pirates, who downed the Giants 4 to 3. The Bugs have overcome their inability to hit southpaws. They knocked Carl Hubbell out of the box when Suhr's double cleaned the bases.

The Boston Braves moved back into the first division, passing Philadelphia, by making it three out of five from the Cards, 6 to3.

LOSES FLY BALL

The Yankees got a break when Cowboy Garms, rookie St. Louis out-fielder, lost a drive by Lazzeri in the sun in the ninth inning. Two runners scored and the Yanks won, 7 to 6. Lou Gehrig contributed his 27th homer.

BIRDS SLUG BUT LOSE TO MILLERS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 24.—Although outhit, Minneapolis today held a 13 to 7 victory over the Columbus Red Birds which gave it an even break in the two games of the present series played to date.

Columbus batters pounded out 18 hits, which surpassed the Millers' 16 safeties. However, the Red Birds faltered in the pinches while the Kels bunched their takings for 13 runs.

Al Grabowski, young Paul Dean, and Kenny Ash were sent to the mound for Columbus but they failed to stem the Millers' hitting tide.

HIT 18 TIMES

Petty went the entire route for the Millers, and though allowing the 18 hits, he kept them fairly well scattered. Eleven Columbus men died on bases.

Healey, Columbus catcher, got a homer and three singles on five trips to the plate. Nick Cullop added another circuit clout for the Birds.

Hauser, the slugging Minneapolis first baseman and the American Association's Babe Ruth, also collected a homer for a season mark of 41. He leads the league and is only 13 homers behind the American Association record set by Cullop as a Miller in 1930.

The airmen were greatly concerned over Solberg and Petersen and glad to hear they had emerged from the crack-up safely. Both fliers, however, said they were disappointed that the other plane was out of the race.

Fatigued by lack of sleep, Lee and Bochkon waited at the airport only long enough to supervise refueling of their plane. When the work was finished, they came to town to rest.

Lee said there was a possibility they might take off for Oslo this afternoon if the weather was favorable. If not, the start will be made tomorrow.

Meanwhile, George Hutchinson of Baltimore and his "flying family" were safely at St. John, New Brunswick, after completing the first leg of their projected flight to London.

The former Amy Johnson, noted aviatrix wife of Captain James A. Mollison, who recently completed history's first solo flight from Europe to America, announced she will not make a similar flight from London next month.

Captain Mollison awaited word from Dr. James A. Kimball, meteorological expert, before taking off from Roosevelt field for Harbor Grace on his return journey to the old world.

trucks held up behind the barriers.

Sheriff Percy Lainson tried to convince the strikers that they should allow the trucks to pass. While he was talking to a dozen of the leaders, however, a score or more of the strikers walked to the sheriff's car and attempted to turn it over.

FISTS ARE USED

This precipitated a brief fist fight in which the sheriff and deputies engaged a dozen or more strikers.

When the fight ended Deputy Sheriff McTwigen attempted to arrest Lynn Alderman. Alderman, seated in a truck, refused to get out of the car and McTwigen pulled his gun and fired several shots in the air.

This precipitated another free-for-all and the authorities were forced to use tear gas to dispel the 300 angry farmers.

Those arrested were Alderman, W. L. Shivery and F. R. Ring. Charges had not been filed early today against Shivery and Ring. Alderman was charged with reckless driving. Authorities said he attempted to drive his truck into a speeding truck which had refused to stop at the picket lines. It was his intention, officers declared to wreck the other car.

IS FIRST CLASH

The clash was the first in the Omaha area since the farm strike became effective here Monday night. Heretofore pickets had used only peaceful methods to stop passage of farm trucks to market. Last night, however, they built barricades on highway 34 and highway six.

Some 300 pickets on highway six narrowly escaped injury. As they were building a barbed wire fence across the road, a farmer intent on breaking through the blockade drove his truck at high speed into the barrier. Barbed wire and fence posts flew through the air, scattering the pickets in all directions.

tax burden. Many of their suggestions will fit in with the governor's economy program. The speakers included H. G. Monks of Greenville, C. W. Cox of Logan and A. C. Hendricks of Carrollton. Protesting against heavy governmental expenditures, they proposed abolition of the following jobs:

1. County school superintendent.
2. County health commissioner.
3. County school boards.
4. County farm agents (already abolished in some counties).

ELIMINATE $25,000

The sum of $25,000 yearly, a heavy burden on counties of small population, could be taken from the tax list with abolition of those positions, Monks said, adding that "the state of Ohio will own half the farms in Darke-co in another year unless something is done."

Chairman Williams revealed that the committee has been asked to urge the abolition of entire county governments in at least 20 small Ohio counties, to provide for the merging of them with larger counties to save expense of operating a county government for a few people.

The governor's committee on foreclosures and tax delinquencies will immediately draw up its report for presentation to Governor White to be used in issuing his call for the special session, Williams also announced.

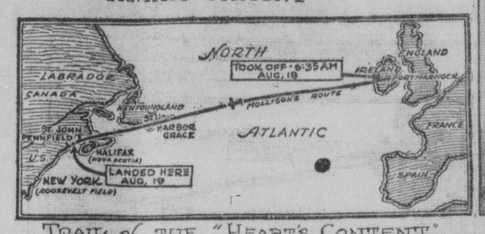
Mollison's Westward Trans-Atlantic Solo Ranks Among Greatest Feats in Aviation History. British Air Ace Has Enviable Record of Successes.

"HEART'S CONTENT"



TRAIL of THE "HEART'S CONTENT"

MR and MRS J. A. MOLLISON

When Captain James A. Mollison landed his tiny plane, romantically named "Heart's Content," at Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, after a 30-hour battle with the elements, the daring young Britisher had completed a feat that goes into aviation annals as one of the most notable in history—ranking with the flight of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris. Mollison is the first man ever to make a solo flight westward across the vast wilderness of water, which proved the grave of many daring airmen who attempted the feat. The young flyer has many other records to his credit. In 1931 he flew from Australia to England in less than 9 days. And last March he made the dangerous flight from London to Capetown, South Africa, in 4 days, 19 hours. He is married to Amy Johnson, a celebrated aviatrix in her own right, holder of the distance record for women. Mrs. Mollison, or Amy Johnson, flew from England to Australia last year, a distance of 10,000 miles. She wanted to accompany her husband on his Atlantic flight, but hubby vetoed the idea. It is believed that it was to prevent her going that Mollison had emergency fuel tanks installed to take up all available space in the tiny craft. The action probably saved his life, for when he abandoned his plan of flying direct to New York and landed at Pennfield it was found that his gas was all but exhausted.

rooklyn Faces Chicago In Test

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Three and one-half games behind the Cubs, Brooklyn's team of destiny was to clash with the National league leaders at Chicago today in the first contest of a three-game series that will go far toward determining the winner of the pennant. The Dodgers must capture two of the three battles to stay in the race.

In these three games, and in the three to be played with the Cubs in Brooklyn next month, the Dodgers will be put to the acid test. Brooklyn hold a 9 to 7 edge over the Bruins in their clashes to date, but will have to be at their best to take the Cubs on the latters' home lot.

PITCHERS REST

The Brooklyn pitchers have been rested up for two days for the big series while the Cubs, victorious in ten of their last eleven starts, thrashed the Phillies for the fourth time in succession yesterday, 5 to 1. Pat Malone held the Phils to five hits as a warm-up for the Brooklyn series.

The Cubs set a new National league record when they registered only one assist during the game.

Brooklyn is only one game in front of the Pirates, who downed the Giants 4 to 3. The Bugs have overcome their inability to hit southpaws. They knocked Carl Hubbell out of the box when Suhr's double cleaned the bases.

The Boston Braves moved back into the first division, passing Philadelphia, by making it three out of five from the Cards, 6 to 3.

POLICE ON TRIAL

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Five Nassau-co police officers accused of the death of Hyman Stark, who was their prisoned, went on trial for first degree manslaughter today before Supreme Court Justice John E. Johnston.

The men being tried are Deputy Chief Frank J. Tappe, Detective Harry W. Zander, Acting Lieutenant Jesse B. Mayforth, and Detectives Charles Wesser and Leslie Pearsall.

Seven other policemen are to be tried later on a charge of second degree assault in connection with the beating given to Stark who with three others had been arrested for robbing and beating Mrs. Valeria Hizenski, the mother of County Detective Joseph Hizenski, who is one of the seven waiting trial.

NOMINEE'S AIDES IN PLANE CRASH

NEY YORK, Aug. 24.—Assemblyman Langdon Post and his pilot, James Elkus, on an air trip to the middle west in behalf of Gov. Roosevelt, crashed in the Ozark mountains last night. Post notified friends today.

Neither he nor Elkus was hurt, but the plane was wrecked.

trucks held up behind the barriers.

Sheriff Percy Lainson tried to convince the strikers that they should allow the trucks to pass. While he was talking to a dozen of the leaders, however, a score or more of the strikers walked to the sheriff's car and attempted to turn it over.

FISTS ARE USED

This precipitated a brief fist fight in which the sheriff and deputies engaged a dozen or more strikers.

When the fight ended Deputy Sheriff McTwigen attempted to arrest Lynn Alderman. Alderman, seated in a truck, refused to get out of the car and McTwigen pulled his gun and fired several shots in the air.

This precipitated another free-for-all and the authorities were forced to use tear gas to dispel the 300 angry farmers.

Those arrested were Alderman, W. L. Shivery and F. R. Ring. Charges had not been filed early today against Shivery and Ring. Alderman was charged with reckless driving. Authorities said he attempted to drive his truck into a speeding truck which had refused to stop at the picket lines. It was his intention, officers declared to wreck the other car.

IS FIRST CLASH

The clash was the first in the Omaha area since the farm strike became effective here Monday night. Heretofore pickets had used only peaceful methods to stop passage of farm trucks to market. Last night, however, they built barricades on highway 34 and highway six.

Some 300 pickets on highway six narrowly escaped injury. As they were building a barbed wire fence across the road, a farmer intent on breaking through the blockade drove his truck at high speed into the barrier. Barbed wire and fence posts flew through the air, scattering the pickets in all directions.

DRASTIC ECONOMY

tax burden. Many of their suggestions will fit in with the governor's economy program. The speakers included H. G. Monks of Greenville, C. W. Cox of Logan and A. C. Hendricks of Carrollton. Protesting against heavy governmental expenditures, they proposed abolition of the following jobs:

1. County school superintendent.
2. County health commissioner.
3. County school boards.
4. County farm agents (already abolished in some counties).

ELIMINATE $25,000

The sum of $25,000 yearly, a heavy burden on counties of small population, could be taken from the tax list with abolition of those positions, Monks said, adding that "the state of Ohio will own half the farms in Darke-co in another year unless something is done."

Chairman Williams revealed that the committee has been asked to urge the abolition of entire county governments in at least 20 small Ohio counties, to provide for the merging of them with larger counties to save expense of operating a county government for a few people.

The governor's committee on foreclosures and tax delinquencies will immediately draw up its report for presentation to Governor White to be used in issuing his call for the special session, Williams also announced.

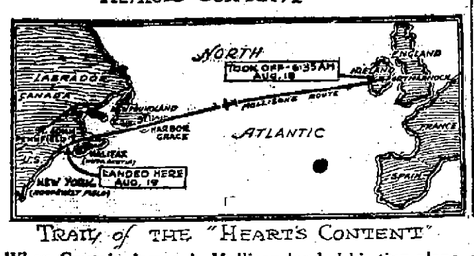
Mollison's Westward Trans-Atlantic Solo Ranks Among Greatest Feats in Aviation History. British Air Ace Has Enviable Record of Successes.

"HEART'S CONTENT"



TRAIL of THE "HEART'S CONTENT"

MR. and MRS J. A. MOLLISON

When Captain James A. Mollison landed his tiny plane, romantically named "Heart's Content," at Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, after a 30-hour battle with the elements, the daring young Britisher had completed a feat that goes into aviation annals as one of the most notable in history—ranking with the flight of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris. Mollison is the first man ever to make a solo flight westward across the vast wilderness of water, which proved the grave of many daring airmen who attempted the feat. The young flyer has many other records to his credit. In 1931 he flew from Australia to England in less than 9 days. And last March he made the dangerous flight from London to Capetown, South Africa, in 4 days, 19 hours. He is married to Amy Johnson, a celebrated aviatrix in her own right, holder of the distance record for women. Mrs. Mollison, or Amy Johnson, flew from England to Australia last year, a distance of 10,000 miles. She wanted to accompany her husband on his Atlantic flight, but hubby vetoed the idea. It is believed that it was to prevent her going that Mollison had emergency fuel tanks installed to take up all available space in the tiny craft. The action probably saved his life, for when he abandoned his plan of flying direct to New York and landed at Pennfield it was found that his gas was all but exhausted.

FIND VALUABLE PAINTING

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Art lovers in this prairie town were recently electrified with the announcement of Edward G. New eastern, landscape artist, that he believed a painting owned by M. F. Grace, city fire department, was a genuine Rafael.

New said that he believed the painting to be worth from $50,000 to $500,000, and left at once for New York to call the attention of critics to the work.

DON'T LET UNDIGESTED FOOD SPOIL YOUR SLEEP

Authorities say that much indigestion occurs at night when drug stores are closed and when your doctor may be hard to reach.

Be prepared. Acid stomach need not spoil your rest or cause discomfort, bloating and gas after eating if you are forehanded enough to keep a box of Kek Anti-Acid Tablets in your home.

Kek, the pleasant-to-take digestive tablets, quickly correct the acid condition that causes food to ferment and bring trouble. They were developed from a prescription used for years by an old family physician. Ask for them at your drug store or mail this advertisement to Kek Products Co., Zanesville, Ohio, for a free trial package.

Expect 500,000 At State's Fair

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—Worries over hard-times were packed in the old kit-bag and forgotten today a prediction of a record-smashing attendance of 500,000 was made for the Ohio State Fair, the greatest exposition of its kind in the world, which opens here Monday and continues through until Friday night.

It is Ohio's "Mardi Gras" of the year and the $2,500,000 exhibit will be ballyhooed to a brilliant start Monday morning when a parade, with a 300-piece boy band and numerous decorated floats, will march through downtown Columbue. On the band's official roster are names representing every high school in the Buckeye State.

500,000 EXPECTED

Charles M. Beer, fair manager, declared the "event is going to be bigger and better than ever" and predicted that 500,000 Ohioans will shove $125,000 in "two-bit" pieces to the gate-keeper for admission to the momentous show.

The program, roughly outlined by Beer, follows:

Monday—Columbus and children's Day.

Tuesday — Farm organizations and county fair managers' Day.

Wednesday—County commissioners and township trustees' Day.

Thursday—Governor's Day.

Friday—Press Day.

There are more than 6,000 entries in the cattle and livestock show, according to Beer, and they represent a value of at least $1,500,000. Farm machinery and other exhibits will boost the value of the show to the $2,500,000 mark, he said.

PAGEANT EACH NIGHT

Every night there will be a George Washington pageant in front of the grandstand in the front of the grandstand in the spicious fair grounds. Dr. J. W. Wilce, former Ohio State U. football coach, will take part as "the father of Our Country," even to wearing "the knee-pants, silk stocking and all," the doctor himself declared.

Prior to the pageant, the crowds will be entertained by an act, known as "Les Cattiers," in which French tight-wire artist will perform on a wire 115 feet in the air. They will present trapeze work, rings, hand balancing, perch work and iron-jaw stunts at the "death-defying height," a publicity commenique stated.

Dogs, cats and even the canaries are to have their spot in the limelight. A dog show, with between 400 and 500 entries, will be held under the auspices of the American Kennel Club. The cat show is expected to draw 300 of the soft-furred felines. The feathered-pet exhibition, including canaries and all pet cage birds, is an innovition and will be held for the first time in the history of the fair.

Interest of sportsmen and fishermen also is expected to be magnetized by casting tournaments for the fishermen and a coon chase for the followers of the trap and field.

INTERESTING SCENES

In the dairy building, a life-size cow will be sculptured from butter and buildings and barns are expected to be modeled from the same substance.

Horse show for awarding of blue ribbons to prize stock will be held nightly in the ring at the huge coliseum and for the first time, fair visitors will be treated to polo games under the arc lights of that building.

Polo contests also will be played on the turf inside the oval dirt track in front of the grandstand every afternoon. Trotting races, for stakes of $20,000, will be held daily for harness-racing fans.

A smiliar sum will be given as prize purses in the Horse show and awards for prize livestock total the same amount.

How the roads of the state are constructed will be shown in a road machinery and materials exhibition. Over 400 nationally known concerns have signified their intention of entering exhibits.

Other highlights of the exposition include a hog-calling contest, a husband-calling contest, a sheep-shearing contest, a horse-pulling race and an exhibition of bees, hives and honey.

TO BE BROADCAST

Radio station WAIU will broadcast all of the fair proceedings. Huge megaphones will be installed in all parts of the fair grounds to help officials broadcast announcements and the program.

Beer declared that the fair not only compared favorably with any other exhibition of the world but that "it is the greatest of its kind." He was eptimistic and stressed the fact that admission this year was only 25 cents in comparison to 50 cents in former years.

"It will be a huge success," he vouchsafed.

DRY FORCES SPLIT OVER HOOVER TALK

Liquor Issue Brings Controversy Between Prohibition Armies.

BY PAUL C. YATES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The powerful dry organizations of America were split further today over President Hoover's stand on the liquor issue.

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal church launched a blistering attack upon the President, accusing him of betraying the dry cause.

At the same time, the Allied Forces for Prohibition praised Mr. Hoover's wet pronouncement in his acceptance speech as "a clearcut document of statesmanship."

NO QUARTER GIVEN

A campaign of no quarter in its fight to retain the Eighteenth amendment without modification was sounded by the Methodist board.

Through Deets Pickett, its research secretary, this numerically huge organization declared:

"It would be idle to deny that the utterances of honorable and respectable political leaders which are in keeping with the cries of the hoodlums who filled the galleries of the Chicago stadium have been bitterly disappointing to the supporters of the prohibition law.

"Particularly is this true in regard to the utterances of the President, made in his acceptance address. Surely no one in the land can fail to understand this when it is remembered with what utter devotion the Democratic and Republican supporters of Mr. Hoover served his cause in 1928.

"Hundreds of them suffered abuse, many of them ostracism, some of them prosecution.

"WITH HEAVY HEART"

"It must have been with a heavy heart that the President turned from these loyal friends and struck hands with their enemies and the enemies of the Eighteenth amendment. Those who so advised him did a disservice not only to their party but to their country."

The board praised Vice President Curtis' stand in favor of the Eighteenth amendment as "refreshing and encouraging for its honesty and courage."

Apparently striking at other dry organizations which have indorsed Mr. Hoover, the board warned that "the millions of Americans who support prohibition for 'conscience' sake cannot be 'delivered' to any candidate who does not represent their convictions."

ECLIPSE WILL BE SEEN THRU OHIO

DELAWARE, Aug. 24.—The total eclipse of the sun on August 31 will be seen in Ohio as a partial eclipse some two hours from about 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., according to Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, director of Perkins Observatory, Ohio Wesleyan University.

Eighty percent of the sun's surface will be obscured for Ohio spectators, Dr. Stetson said. The maximum eclipse will come at 3:30 p. m.

"Some of this phenomenon will be seen throughout the entire United States and Canada. Even the Pacific coast will see about 15 per cent of the sun's face covered," Dr. Stetson said.

"In a narrow path about 100 miles wide crossing Maine, New Hampshire and a small portion of Massachusetts, the sunlight will be completely obscured and the gorgeous spectacle of the solar corons may be viewed. The exact center of the eclipse will pass through Magog, Canada and Conway, New Hampshire, leaving the coast line at Kennebunkport, Maine, and proceeding out over the Atlantic ocean.

"Astronomers from all parts of the world will gather along the track of the shadow of the moon and set up elaborate pieces of apparatus for making scientific observations of the outer atmosphere of the sun which are possible only under such circumstances.

"An eclipse expedition from Ohio will encamp itself at Douglas Hill, Maine, sponsored by the Perkins Observatory and Case School of Applied Science."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Just Grandpa to Her

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt may be the distinguished Democratic nominee for President to most people but he's just "grandpa" to little Ann Dahl, shown frolicing with him in the pool of the Roosevelt home at Hyde Park, N. Y. Little Ann is almost as fond of swimming as her famous grandfather who takes a dip every day, whether in Albany or at home.

Traffic Police Warn Motorists

Additional efforts are being made by traffic officers to teach automobile and truck drivers how to operate their automobiles to provide safety for themselves and everyone else.

One of the factors stressed by authorities is the practice of operating vehicles with only one headlight burning. This is a law violation and officers are making an effort to break up the practice. As yet few arrests have been made but unless that practice is halted apprehensions will be made.

Another is the fast rate of speed which truck drivers have been employing. There is a certain speed permitted for trucks according to the weight. It would be a good idea for truck drivers to get in touch with traffic authorities, stating the weight of their trucks and load and learns how fast they are allowed to travel.

Auto drivers still persist in following the fire truck, one officer has pointed out, and arrests loom in this field if the practice continues. Another is the habit of parking in highways at scenes of automobile accidents and blocking traffic, thus making additional accidents, which may prove fatal, possible.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., — Two great ambitions are to be realized by Joe E. Brown in one swoop.

Warner Brothers have decided at last to make "Elmer the Great" with the chasm - faced comedian in the title role. Joe has been hankering after this picture for many months. It is to start after "You Said a Mouthful," which begins about August 22, is completed.

"Elmer the Great" will also give Joe E. an opportunity to do what he has always wanted-a characterization which does not depend alone on his oral cavity and his ululating gifts.

Although, if the fans really want his howl and his yawn, some way will probably be found to get them in.

Ring Lardner and George M. (Michael) Cohan are the playwrights of "Elmer the Great." It is one of the most successful baseball comedies put on the stage.

The Burbank studios will probably cast it with famous baseball names, waiting for the off-baseball season to use them.

El Captain's show record was broken by Joe E. Brown when he played the baseball comedy thirteen weeks there, returning to Hollywood after long runs in San Francisco and Oakland to do another 2 weeks.

The studio was telling the Marx brothers that although their "Cocoanuts" did not set the world afire in England last year, this year's picture, "Horse Feathers," is a panic with the Britons.

"They are laughing at last year's picture," flipped Groucho.

BOULEVARD CHATTER

Marie Dressler led the star parade to Santa Barbara for the fiesta this coming week-end. The heat is still on for Estelle Taylor and Lyle Talbot . . . Irene Dunne is on her feet again after the cold she caught voyaging home from Honolulu. R-K-O is looking for a picture with music in it for Irene . . . Lloyd Corrigan is back from his European trip, working in a story for Allison Slipworth and Stuart Erwin. Shoothing is expected to begin next month. . . . Charlotte Susa, the foreign star who speaks perfect English, is on the M-G-M lot . . . Lawrence Grant has invented an aluminum camp chair that folds up for the hip pocket . . . . The Barrymores continue playful. Lionel was seen talking to a stray dog outside the M-G-M gates. He showed up on the set of "Rasputin" and some one asked him what happened to the pup. Lionel lifted his Russian beard and brought it forth . . . . Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., return to Hollywood the first week in September . . . Robert Montgomery, the town's perfect patient, is expected out of the hospital in two weeks. . . Saw Johnny Weissmulled, first surrounded by girls, then lunching with Bobbe Arnst in the M-G-M commissary . . . Ralph Forbes, in uniform for "Smilin' Through," uncertainly greeting chance acquaintances in his new status . . . Some one suggests Joe E. Brown for Universal's "Laughing Boy."

The selling of the Montmarte rousts a lot of old ghosts from their haunts. The once-famous haunt of the stars is being looted by the men who brought its movables at auction. Champagne buckets, silverware over which famous exotiques and Hollywood's elite chased away the hours, the wall seat where Greta Garbo used to sit in her public days—all are going.

The parade has passed on up the boulevard. Across the street, a film theater's marquise flaunts "Merrily We Go to Hell."

Hollywood is being prepared to greet another matinee idol from Europe. He is Francis Lederer, regarded in the capitals over seas as another Chevalier.

R. K. O. Radio has brought a story for him already. It is "Nights Are Made for Love." It is planned to make it his first picture, when he arrives in Hollywood after New Year's. Before tha, the new heartthrob will play on Broadway in "Autumn Crocus," a play in which he has been stirring London audiences.

Hardie Albright had never been on a polo horse. But they made him ride one with Jack Holt in "Polo," for Columbia. He came through without a toss.

A later sequence called for him to spin a racing auto around and around a turn. He is one of Hollywood's best autoists, but he came out with a shoulder out of joint.

JUST WHAT WOULD YOU DESIRE, MR. FOSTER; COMMUNIST TALKS

By LEO V. DOLAN

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug.24—"Hoover—Roosevelt?

There's no difference. Each could function perfectly in the other's cabinet."

That's the succint summation of William Z. Foster, communistic candidate for the presidency. Tall and gaunt, with an iron jaw and gleaming blue eyes, he sprawled his length on a rickety desk and "talked politics."

MATE IS NEGRO

His running mate, James W. Ford, Alabama negro, sat silent and motionless, except for an occasional nod of the head, as Foster "got off his chest" a running fire of cynical comment.

It included:

"The capitalist system has burst. The stock market rise is hooey. There'll be another cut in wages for all workers.

"Governor Pinchot? A fakir and demagogue.

"Father James R. Cox? He's cutting off relief by his jobless party movement, eliminating struggle for adequate relief.

"Norman Thomas, the Socialist? Bah! Better, the Social Democrat!"

Thomas, peculiarly enough, drew the heaviest barrage. Of him, Foster observed:

"With him in the presidency, it would be like Ramsay MacDonald in England. He claimed to be a Socialist—and then he sent troops to shoot down the people of India.

"Hitler also called himself a Socialist. So did Mussolini!"

The Russian situation? Well—

"In Russia, the steel industry is running 118 per cent. Here it is running 18 per cent.

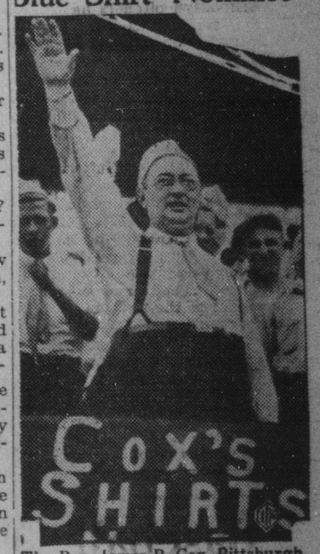
"Russia operates for the people. Here, industry operates for greed and profit."

"And now, Mr. Foster," the reporter persisted, "just what would you do if your were elected president?"

He laughed and advised:

"I just wrote a book about it. Buy the book."

Blue Shirt Nominee



The Rev. James R. Cox, Pittsburgh, Pa., priest, is shown on the speakers' stand in the abandoned St. Louis race track, where the Jobless Party held its convention. Father Cox is wearing the blue shirt and cap, symbolic of his "Blue Shirt Army." Photo was made as the militant priest accepted the party nomination for the Presidency of the United States.

Practical Relief

THE reconstruction finance corporation has named an advisory board of five members to assist in the study of the technical angles of self-liquidating relief projects, and wisely chose for this board five recognized engineers.

Though its job is a big one the advisory board is equal to it. Its particular work will be the examination of applications under the R. F. C. Law's clause permitting the lending of not more than $1,500,000,000 for self-liquidating project of public and quaisi-public character.

Advances made from this fund will not be gifts. They will be loans, made upon responsible collateral or surety and are to be repaid, making possible the retirement of the R. F. C. when it shall have served its emergency purpose.

Here is a billion and a half dollars for direct unemployment relief. There is money to finance needed public improvements long contemplated by the states and municipalities but never carried out because of lack of funds. And public works undertaken at this time mean work for men, factories, quarries and mines, and business for everybody.

It is hoped the R. F. C. and its advisory board can get the greatest amount of good out of the fund and at the same time prevent public borrowers from getting in over their heads.

American Fortitude

THERE is at least one satisfaction to be taken from the depression and that is that while the suffering has been great it will leave no lasting ill effects. The disease is not permanent, nor will leave permanent scars.

Through all the worry and want the people have emerged in excellent physical conditions. Vital statistics and other medical records show a lower death rate and improved public health.

So has the national morale stood firm in the face of what might be considered unusual temptations to crime caused by privations and despondency. Crime has not increased in the United States since 1929 although reasons why it should have been many.

The bureau of investigation of the federal department of justice has completed a crime survey in 72 cities of more than 100,000 population and found that during the first six months of this year there were 7,400 fewer automobile thefts, 650 fewer robberies and three less murders than in the corresponding period of 1931. Burglaries and larcenies showed no change.

American character has stood up. It has proved unshakable. Those fine qualities of character which carried the first colonists through terrible hardships and the 13 colonies through the revolution have been brought out by the depression. America will emerge from these current troubles stronger than ever.

Sun Shines In Kansas

KANSAS has at last found farm relief and it didn't come from dirt-farmer politicians or congress. Nor do the Kansas farmers themselves deserve all the credit.

The federal reserve bank has been receiving exceptionally favorably reports from its correspondent banks in Kansas, and from these it estimates that the recent increase in farm prices has placed $400,000,000 in the pockets of the farmers of the tenth district.

What confidence and optimism must have come with this sudden stroke of good fortune, especially since it is not contingent upon loans or gifts or other obligations that will have to be paid back! It must have seemed to the beneficiaries like the dawning of a new era.

It was not all accident. Farm prices soared into the stratum of profits because of reduced acreage and subnormal crops. It was a blessing the farmers could have brought about years ago had they cooperated in keeping production down to consumption. But their friends the politicians told them society owed them a market for all they could produce and they believed it.

Perhaps agriculture has learned its lesson. If it has, it will never again deliberately violate the law of supply and demand, a law which all can obey but none can repeal.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVICI-FRIEDE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

"Thatcher, I know how you dislike all this," apologized Dougherty, "but tonight, old man, you've got to trust me."

PREFACE

The Crime Without a Parallel

If crime may be said to have a technic, one of its masterpieces was that singular series of mysteries bound up with the name of Lola Carewe, sometimes called the "Night Club Lady."

In cold patience and during long years, this fantastic plot was hatched. Conceived in audacity, and executed with rare boldness and dispatch, it was almost the perfect crime. At the time of this bizarre excitement, as some will remember, I was confidential secretary to Thatcher Colt, then Police Commissioner of Greater New York. In the Carewe case we encountered a problem unique and terrifying, a deadly enigma which Colt solved when to the rest of us all avenues of investigation appeared empty.

Yet in the Carewe mysteries, as in his other investigations, Thatcher Colt employed no miraculous gifts. He resorted to no magic except applied intelligence, relying invariably on strict police practice—industry, patience, perseverance, and the organized use of all available assistance, including the cooperation of scientists and their laboratories. As everyone knows, actual police work is seldom a garish exhibition of spectacular deduction. Crimes are solved and malefactors arrested by the use of common sense, persisted in until adventurous logic looks like inspiration.

Anthony Abbot.

CHAPTER ONE

PRECISELY at eleven-thirty o'clock on that snow-blown New Year's Eve, Thatcher Colt reached the Ritz Carlton Hotel. Through the revolving doors in East Forty-sixth Street hastened the Police Commissioner, immaculate in evening array and top hat. His large black eyes brightened when he found me waiting for him in the tiny red foyer.

"Sorry to pull you away from your family celebration, Tony," he apologized. "Hope your wife isn't cross with me for ringing you up?"

"We both realized it must be something exciting."

As the chief loosened his silken muffler, his black eyes flashed at me a gleam of rueful mistrust.

"May be only a false alarm," he warned. "I was alone at home when Dougherty telephoned. The District Attorney was more than usually excited. Implored me to come at once—to the dancing club downstairs."

"Wouldn't the D. A. tell you what it was about?"

"Swore he didn't dare—over the wire. . . . You don't suppose this could be another of Dougherty's efforts to rope me in on one of his everlasting parties?"

As I looked at Thatcher Colt, tall, slender, black-haired, Miami-tanned, I felt a twinge of sympathy. True, the Police Commissioner of New York was not a party man. But Manhattan's favorite bachelor had not always been bored by social frivolities. His monastic life began only after the fickle lady of his fancy ran off with a contract champion. Since then Thatcher Colt had lost interest in his old world of gaiety and fashion. Born to money and social position, he put aside all distractions when he accepted the appointment as Police Commissioner. With an eagerness that was like an obsession, he plunged into the Department work and of the 19,000 policemen he commanded, Thatcher Colt was the best all-around athlete, the hardest worker, the most invincible crook-hunter.

"Let's find the District Attorney now—and remember, Tony, I don't want to stay long."

Neither of us dreamed how brief our stay was to be, as we briskly descended the staircase at our right. A flight of red-carpeted steps led down under the pavement level of the fashionable East Side. From below rose the whine and croon of an orchestra, beating regularly through a vast discord of party voices. It was New Year's Eve at Mayfair.

Like nothing else in all New York is the dancing club Mayfair. At midnight every Saturday during the season, the stars of the theater and cinema gather with prize-fighters, song writers, theatrical agents, stock-brokers and such in the Crystal Room of the Ritz. Here the ladies and gentlemen of the amusement world triumphantly display their gentility, until the atmosphere of refinement is almost painful.

The broad room was overcrowded with table parties, except for a center oval of waxed oak, cleared for dancers. On a low platform at the rear wall, a troupe of boys with pale, elderly faces blew and scraped the mumbo-jumbo of jazz upon their strings and brass. In the warm air drifted the smells of women—powder and perfume and perspiration blending with tobacco smoke.

As we hesitated, the lumpy figure of Merle K. Dougherty appeared, lumbering rapidly toward us. The District Attorney was one of Colt's oldest and most unreasonable friends—a stout and noisy but competent man, with dangling jowls, a mop of red curls, and protruding blue eyes that always seemed indignant and alarmed.

"Thatcher, I know how you dislike all this," apologized Dougherty, panting as he shook hands, "but tonight, old man, you've got to trust me. This way!"

Through narrow twisting lanes of skylarking show-folk the District Attorney led us with confident tread. As he had boasted, his table was on the edge of the dance floor. We sat down. Colt's grave eyes taking in the scene with one swift and lustrous glance. It was a jovial assemblage, and the excitement was palpably rising with the approach of the midnight hour.

"Well, Dougherty?"

In the Commissioner's question there was an over-tone of skeptical challenge.

"I'll come right to the point Thatcher," promised Dougherty. "During the last two months, I have personally been conducting a highly secret criminal investigation."

"Jewel robberies!" stated Colt quietly.

Dougherty's eyes suddenly rolled upward.

"Who told you anything about that?" he demanded.

"Not the District Attorney," replied Thatcher Colt, mild reproof in his voice. The Commissioner had long felt that the functions of the police were too often usurped by the District Attorneys, not only in New York but in many other American cities. Recently Colt's objection was given eminent support by the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission which condemned such interference.

"How much do you know about my investigation?" pouted Dougherty.

"We'll compare notes later. Go ahead!"

"Anyway, I don't have to tell you how many big jewel robberies have been pulled off in the last few months. The total runs into staggering figures. The insurance companies are on my neck—and yours. The thieves force their way into houses and apartments disguised as delivery men, mechanics — all sorts of ruses. Now, Thatcher, those jewel thieves are certainly in cahoots with somebody higher up—somebody who hob-nobs with the swells and plans the jobs!"

"Have you found a clue to this mysterious personality?"

Thatcher Colt's expression was amiable and interested; not by a flicker of an eyelid did he betray that the Headquarters jewel squad had been searching for the brains of the gem thieves for many exciting weeks, and were now ready to ask for the indictment of a downtown insurance broker and seven fellow-conspirators.

"Well, Thatcher," grinned Dougherty, "I think I have found the higher-up."

What You Think Is Dyspepsia May Be Due to a Serious Peptic Ulcer

Examination By X-Ray in Many Cases Has Revealed Conditions That Can Be Cured By Operation If Done in Time, But Which Formerly Went Unsuspected.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ULCER of the stomach, or "peptic ulcer," to quote the doctors, is a common ailment. It used to be confused with other stomach disorders and its true nature was overlooked. It has the familiar symptoms of dyspepsia, sour stomach or hyperacidity, and formerly received no more serious attention than they get. The old-fashioned remedy, baking soda, which gave temporary relief, was about the only treatment suggested.

Dr. Copeland

With the invention of the X-ray machine, the diagnosis of peptic ulcer was greatly simplified and now the disorder is readily recognized. It is improbable that cases of ulcer of the stomach are more numerous than they used to be, but the X-ray and other modern methods of diagnosis reveal what formerly was unsuspected.

Operations Are Successful

Within recent years there has been a great advance in the treatment of this annoying complaint. In former years the sufferer from ulcer of the stomach was confined to a rigid diet, but in many instances, as we see it now, the diet aggravated, rather than cured, the disorder. Relief could be hoped for, but cures were rare.

Today, with the aid of the X-ray and the improved skill of the surgeon, there is no need for long suffering from this disorder; no need to reach the stage of severe exhaustion because of hemorrhage from the stomach.

It is possible now to get rid of ulcer of the stomach by an operation to remove the inflamed portion, and in suitable cases the results obtained from this operation are remarkably satisfactory.

Medical Treatment Aids

Not every case of peptic ulcer, by any means, requires operation, for many patients respond successfully to medical treatment. After an X-ray examination and an analysis of the contents of the stomach the physician can decide what is the best treatment.

Many persons who suffer from dyspepsia, hyperacidity, sour stomach and other digestive disturbances, postpone seeing their physician because they fear that operation will be recommended. This is an unwise attitude.

Early cancer has similar symptoms, and its existence is readily recognized by means of the X-ray. When discovered in its early stages it can be dealt with successfully, but this is possible only when immediate action is taken. If the condition is permitted to drag along the disease reaches a stage where it cannot be controlled.

Do not attempt to diet without advice of a physician. A diet good for one individual may be harmful for another, so be sure to get on the right track.

Any disturbance of the stomach and digestive system requires immediate and careful observation, for only early attention will render you safe.

By ARTIE McGOVERN
Noted Physical Trainer

NEW YORK.—People who have been sold on the idea of regular exercise have the mistaken impression that its value lies principally in its thoroughness, and as a result they keep the muscles as tense as possible. Just the opposite is true. During exercise the muscles must be relaxed. In performing exercise in a relaxed manner we are also exhausting nervous energy.

You can readily see this if you hold your arms out straight, the fists clenched, and muscles taut. You will be able to hold the position for only a few minutes. Hold the arms in the same position in a relaxed way without the contraction, you can retain the position almost indefinitely.

The Daily Horoscope

Wednesday, August 24, 1932

Somewhat disturbing conditions are the main feature of today's indications. Considerable restlessness may be expected, so this is not a day to undertake new ventures, nor make important changes.

Avoid persons of wealth, authority and prominence. Do not buy, make collections, nor make any arrangements outside of the regular routine.

The feelings and emotions should be under control, as the aspects of the planets warn against deceit and intrigue.

A great deal of care is cautioned in transactions so it is not advisable to be too enthusiastic in buying and selling today. Confusion may take place and purchases made through untrue compliments. Those who operate through secret by-ways are also shown to be active.

Physicians should be cautious in prescribing and in the administration of anaesthetics.

Some member of legislation will be severely criticised, due to jealousy or hostility. Public attention may be turned to some philanthropic movement and charitable activity; problems arise as to foreign trade and accidents are likely to occur in trans-Atlantic air travel.

Persons whose birthday it is, have all indications for a favorable twelve months period and many opportunities may be offered to them especially during the next three months.

Children born on this day should be careful in the choice of their friends; they will be quite talkative and will show an interest in almost any subject. Those controlled by this sign are fond of music and entertainment and are always much appreciated in their own home and by their kin folks.

Robert Herrick, 1591, English poet was born on this date. Among others who have celebrated it as a birthday, include Aubrey Vincent Beardsley, 1872, English artist in black and white.

Practical Relief

THE reconstruction finance corporation has named an advisory board of five members to assist in the study of the technical angles of self-liquidating relief projects, and wisely chose for this board five recognized engineers.

Though its job is a big one the advisory board is equal to it. Its particular work will be the examination of applications under the R. F. C. Law's clause permitting the lending of not more than $1,500,000,000 for self-liquidating project of public and quasi-public character.

Advanced made from this fund will not be gifts. They will be loans, made upon responsible collateral or safety and are to be repaid, making possible the retirement of the R. F. C. when it shall have served its emergency purpose.

Here is a billion and a half dollars for direct unemployment relief. There is money to finance needed public improvements long contemplated by the states and municipalities but never carried out because of lack of funds. And public works undertaken at this time mean work for men, factories, quarries and mines, and business for everybody.

It is hoped the R. F. C. and its advisory board can get the greatest amount of good out of the fund and at the same time prevent public borrowers from getting in over their heads.

American Fortitude

THERE is at least one satisfaction to be taken from the depression and that is that while the suffering has been great it will have no lasting ill effects. The disease is not permanent, nor will it leave permanent scars.

Through all the worry and want the people have emerged in excellent physical conditions. Vital statistics and other medical records show a lower death rate and improved public health.

So has the national morale stood firm in the face of what might be considered unusual temptations to crime caused by privations and despondency. Crime has not increased in the United States since 1929 although reasons why it should have been many.

The bureau of investigation of the federal department of justice has completed a crime survey in 72 cities of more than 100,000 population and found that during the first six months of this year there were 7,400 fewer automobile thefts, 1,850 fewer robberies and three less murders than in the corresponding period of 1931. Burglaries and larcenies showed no change.

American character has stood up. It has proved unshakable. Those fine qualities of character which carried the first colonists through terrible hardships and the 13 colonies through the revolution have been brought out by the depression. America will emerge from these current troubles stronger than ever.

Sun Shines In Kansas

KANSAS has at last found farm relief and it didn't come from dirt-farmer politicians or congress. Nor do the Kansas farmers themselves deserve all the credit.

The federal reserve bank has been receiving exceptionally favorable reports from its correspondent banks in Kansas, and from these it estimates that the recent increase in farm prices has placed $400,000,000 in the pockets of the farmers of the 10th district.

What confidence and optimism must have come with this sudden stroke of good fortune, especially since it is not contingent upon loans or gifts or other obligations that will have to be paid back! It must have seemed to the beneficiaries like the dawning of a new era.

It was not all accident. Farm prices soared into the stratum of profits because of reduced acreage and submarginal crops. It was a planning the farmers could have thought about years ago had they cooperated in keeping production down to consumption. But their friends the politicians told them society owed them a market for all they could produce and they believed it.

Perhaps agriculture has learned a lesson. If it has, it will never again deliberately violate the law of supply and demand, a law which it can obey but none can repeal.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVICI-FRIEDE INC. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

PREFACE

The Crime Without a Parallel.

If crime may be said to have a technic, one of its masterpieces was that singular series of mysteries bound up with the name of Lola Carewe, sometimes called the "Night Club Lady."

In cold patience and during long years, this fantastic plot was hatched. Conceived in audacity, and executed with rare boldness and dispatch, it was almost the perfect crime. At the time of this bizarre excitement, as some will remember, I was confidential secretary to Thatcher Colt, then Police Commissioner of Greater New York. In the Carewe case we encountered a problem unique and terrifying, a deadly enigma which Colt solved when to the rest of us all avenues of investigation appeared empty.

Yet in the Carewe mysteries, as in his other investigations, Thatcher Colt employed no miraculous gifts. He resorted to no magic except applied intelligence, relying invariably on strict police practice—industry, patience, perseverance, and the organized use of all available assistance, including the cooperation of scientists and their laboratories. As everyone knows, actual police work is seldom a garish exhibition of spectacular deduction. Crimes are solved and malefactors arrested by the use of common sense, persisted in until adventurous logic looks like inspiration.

Anthony Abbot.

"Thatcher, I know how you dislike all this," apologized Dougherty, "but tonight, old man, you've got to trust me."

CHAPTER ONE

PRECISELY at eleven-thirty o'clock on that snow-blown New Year's Eve, Thatcher Colt reached the Ritz Carlton Hotel. Through the revolving doors in East Forty-sixth Street hastened the Police Commissioner, immaculate in evening array and top hat. His large black eyes brightened when he found me waiting for him in the tiny red foyer.

"Sorry to pull you away from your family celebration, Tony," he apologized. "Hope your wife isn't cross with me for ringing you up?"

"We both realized it must be something exciting."

As the chief loosened his silken muffler, his black eyes flashed at me a gleam of rueful mistrust.

"May be only a false alarm," he warned. "I was alone at home when Dougherty telephoned. The District Attorney was more than usually excited. Implored me to come at once—to the dancing club downstairs."

"Wouldn't the D. A. tell you what it was about?"

"Swore he didn't dare—over the wire. . . . You don't suppose this could be another of Dougherty's efforts to rope me in on one of his everlasting parties?"

As I looked at Thatcher Colt, tall, slender, black-haired, Miami-tanned, I felt a twinge of sympathy. True, the Police Commissioner of New York was not a party man. But Manhattan's favorite bachelor had not always been bored by social frivolities. His monastic life began only after the fickle lady of his fancy ran off with a contract champion. Since then Thatcher Colt had lost interest in his old world of gaiety and fashion. Born to money and social position, he put aside all distractions when he accepted the appointment as Police Commissioner. With an eagerness that was like an obsession, he plunged into the Department work and of the 19,000 policemen he commanded, Thatcher Colt was the best all-around athlete, the hardest worker, the most invincible crook-hunter.

"Let's find the District Attorney now—and remember, Tony, I don't want to stay long."

Neither of us dreamed how brief our stay was to be, as we briskly descended the staircase at our right. A flight of red-carpeted steps led down under the pavement level of the fashionable East Side. From below rose the whine and croon of an orchestra, beating regularly through a vast discord of party voices. It was New Year's Eve at Mayfair.

Like nothing else in all New York is the dancing club Mayfair. At midnight every Saturday during the season, the stars of the theater and cinema gather with prize-fighters, song writers, theatrical agents, stock-brokers and such in the Crystal Room of the Ritz. Here the ladies and gentlemen of the amusement world triumphantly display their gentility, until the atmosphere of refinement is almost painful.

The broad room was overcrowded with table parties, except for a center oval of waxed oak, cleared for dancers. On a low platform at the rear wall, a troupe of boys with pale, elderly faces blew and scraped the mumbo-jumbo of jazz upon their strings and brass. In the warm air drifted the smells of women—powder and perfume and perspiration blending with tobacco smoke.

As we hesitated, the lumpy figure of Merle K. Dougherty appeared, lumbering rapidly toward us. The District Attorney was one of Colt's oldest and most unreasonable friends—a stout and noisy but competent man, with dangling jowls, a mop of red curls, and protruding blue eyes that always seemed indignant and alarmed.

"Thatcher, I know how you dislike all this," apologized Dougherty, panting as he shook hands. "but tonight, old man, you've got to trust me. This way!"

Through narrow twisting lanes of skylarking show-folk the District Attorney led us with confident tread. As he had boasted, his table was on the edge of the dance floor. We sat down. Colt's grave eyes taking in the scene with one swift and lustrous glance. It was a jovial assemblage, and the excitement was palpably rising with the approach of the midnight hour.

"Well, Dougherty?"

In the Commissioner's question there was an over-tone of skeptical challenge.

"I'll come right to the point Thatcher," promised Dougherty. "During the last two months, I have personally been conducting a highly secret criminal investigation."

"Jewel robberies!" stated Colt quietly.

Dougherty's eyes suddenly rolled upward.

"Who told you anything about that?" he demanded.

"Not the District Attorney," replied Thatcher Colt, mild reproof in his voice. The Commissioner had long felt that the functions of the police were too often usurped by the District Attorneys, not only in New York but in many other American cities. Recently Colt's objection was given eminent support by the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission which condemned such interference.

"How much do you know about my investigation?" pouted Dougherty.

"We'll compare notes later. Go ahead!"

"Anyway, I don't have to tell you how many big jewel robberies have been pulled off in the last few months. The total runs into staggering figures. The insurance companies are on my neck—and yours. The thieves force their way into houses and apartments disguised as delivery men, mechanics — all sorts of ruses. Now, Thatcher, those jewel thieves are certainly in cahoots with somebody higher up—somebody who hob-nobs with the swells and plans the jobs!"

"Have you found a clue to this mysterious personality?"

Thatcher Colt's expression was amiable and interested; not by a flicker of an eyelid did he betray that the Headquarters jewel squad had been searching for the brains of the gem thieves for many exciting weeks, and were now ready to ask for the indictment of a downtown insurance broker and seven fellow-conspirators.

"Well, Thatcher," grinned Dougherty, "I think I have found the higher-up."

NEW YORK. People who have been sold on the idea of regular exercise have the mistaken notion that its value lies principally in its thoroughness and as a result they keep the muscles as tense as possible. But the opposite is true. During exercise the muscles must be relaxed. In performing exercise in a relaxed manner one will also exhausting nervous energy.

You can readily see this if you hold your arms out straight, the fists clenched, and muscles taut. You will be able to hold the position for only a few minutes. Hold the arms in the same position in a relaxed way without the contraction, you can retain the position almost indefinitely.

This Woman Lost 64 Pounds of Fat

Mrs. H. Price of Woodside, L. I. writes: "A year ago I weighed 190 lbs. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life and what's more, I look more like 20 yrs. old than the mother of 2 children, one of 19 and the other 18. My friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.
